Feature Story

A New Look, Feel and Interaction for Aplus.net

As you may have noticed by now, we've completely redesigned the website to better meet the needs of you, our valued customers. Better navigation, an easier-to-use layout, and a more attractive look are just the beginning. In order to provide you the best online experience we are responding to the constantly changing online marketplace, staying ahead of the curve. Take a look at our new site and e-mail any feedback to marketing@aplust.net.

Your new online experience with Aplus.net doesn't stop with the new look, we have also launched a forum providing you a place to interact with other business professionals as well as the Aplus.net team.

Use the forum to trade tips, advice, and insight about everything related to running an online business. Topics discussed can be about anything from website hosting, online marketing, to website design and more. This allows you to spend more time focusing on running your business and less time searching for the answers.

Buzzword: Business Mail

Business Mail is an e-mail hosting platform providing an alternative to exchange hosting—usually at a lower price. It provides a faster, more secure, more powerful, and more professional e-mail hosting than a traditional e-mail service and it's specifically designed for online businesses. In addition to full service e-mail features, Business Mail is also a collaboration utility including calendars, contacts, task management, notes and the ability to share this information with other users. Business Mail typically includes top-of-the-line spam and virus protection along with additional features such as file storage, data backup, and data migration. Business Mail is a powerful tool for growing businesses.
